NUMBER 1, MARCH 1990

B. JEANGROS and J. NÖSBERGER. Effects of an established sward of Lolium perenne L. on the growth and development of Rumex obtusifolius L. seedlings 1

R.M. PLUMMER, R.L. HALL and T.A. WATT. The influence of crown rust (Puccinia coronata) on tiller production and survival of perennial ryegrass (Lolium perenne) plants in simulated swards 9

S.J. KENNEDY. Comparison of the fermentation quality and nutritive value of sulphuric and formic acid-treated silages fed to beef cattle 17

P.M. HAIGH. The effect of dry matter content on the preservation of big bale grass silages made during the autumn on commercial farms in South Wales 1983–87 29

A. MARSHALL and D.H. HIDES. White clover seed production from mixed swards: effect of sheep grazing on stolen density and on seed yield components of two contrasting white clover varieties 35

A. HOPKINS, J. GILBEY, C. DIBB, P.J. BOWLING and P.J. MURRAY. Response of permanent and reseeded grassland to fertilizer nitrogen. 1. Herbage production and herbage quality 43

J. FRAME. Herbage productivity of a range of grass species in association with white clover 57

R.J. THOMAS, K.A.B. LOGAN, A.D. IRONSIDE and G.R. BOLTON. The effects of grazing with and without excretal returns on the accumulation of nitrogen by ryegrass in a continuously grazed upland sward 65

F.N.J. LONG and H.I. GRACEY. Herbage production and nitrogen recovery from slurry injection and fertilizer nitrogen application 77

L. JONES. The effect of formic acid on the rate of water loss from cut grass and lucerne 83

L. NESHEIM, B.C. BOLLER, J. LEHMANN and U. WALTHER. The effect of nitrogen in cattle slurry and mineral fertilizers on nitrogen fixation by white clover 91

N. FRENCH, D.B.R. NICHOLS and A.J. WRIGHT. Yield responses of improved upland pasture to the control of leatherjackets under increasing rates of nitrogen 99

D.J. ROBERTS and E.F. KELLY. Comparison of straw/concentrate mixture with silage as a buffer feed for grazing dairy cows 103

D.W. HOPKINS, R.S. SHIEL and A.G. O'DONNELL. Yield and nitrogen utilization by Lolium perenne and Trifolium repens on a limed stagnohumic-gley soil in a pot experiment 107

R.C. BINNIE and D.M.B. CHESTNUTT. The effect of cutting systems on the yield of herbage from a small-plot experiment 113

BOOK REVIEWS 117

NUMBER 2, JUNE 1990

N.J. HUTCHINGS, A.H. PHILLIPS and RUTH C. DOBSON. An ultrasonic rangefinder for measuring the undisturbed surface height of continuously grazed swards 119

D.R. EVANS, T.A. WILLIAMS and S.A. MASON. Contribution of white clover varieties to total sward production under typical farm management 129

C.T. DOUGHERTY, M. COLLINS, N.W. BRADLEY, P.L. CORNELIUS and L.M. LAURIAULT. Moderation of ingestive behaviour of beef cattle by grazing-induced changes in lucerne swards 135

J.A. ROOKE, ALISON J. BORMAN and D.G. ARMSTRONG. The effect of inoculation with Lactobacillus plantarum on fermentation in laboratory silos of herbage low in water-soluble carbohydrate 143

M.G. COURTIN and S.F. SPOELSTRA. A simulation model of the microbiological and chemical changes accompanying the initial stage of aerobic deterioration of silage 153

C.S. MAYNE, A.J. CLEMENTS and S.C.F. WOODCOCK. An evaluation of the effects of grazing management systems involving preferential treatment of high-yielding dairy cows on animal performance and sward utilization 167

C.J. DOYLE, V.C. MASON and R.D. BAKER. The economic consequences of integrating whole-crop wheat with grass production on dairy farms in the UK: a computer simulation 179

JANE WOLEDGE, VERONICA TEWSON and I.A. DAVIDSON. Growth of grass/clover mixtures during winter 191

R.D. SHELDRICK, R.H. LAVENDER and T.M. MARTYN. Dry matter yield and response to nitrogen of an Agrostis stolonifera-dominant sward 203

R.K. HEITSCHMIDT, D.D. BRISKE and D.L. PRICE. Pattern of interspecific tiller defoliation in a mixed-grass prairie grazed by cattle 215

K. LUNDÉN PETTERSSON and S. LINDGREN. The influence of the carbohydrate fraction and additives on silage quality 223

NUMBER 3, SEPTEMBER 1990

H.D. WILLIAMSON. Estimating biomass of an improved pasture using SPOT HRV data 235

JAIME LLOVERAS. Dry matter yield and nutritive value of four summer annual crops in north-west Spain (Galicia) 243

CHRISTINE J. STANDELL. Slot-seeding investigations 7. The effects of two grass-suppressants on the growth of white clover introduced into permanent pasture 249

R.P. BLACKSHAW. Application of a sequential sampling technique to DIY assessment of leatherjacket (Diptera: Tipulidae) populations in grassland 257

P.M. HAIGH. Effect of herbage water-soluble carbohydrate content and weather conditions at ensilage on the fermentation of grass silages made on commercial farms 263

R.E. MUCK. Prediction of lactic acid bacterial numbers on lucerne 273

S.J. KENNEDY. An evaluation of three bacterial inoculants and formic acid as additives for first harvest grass 281

J.F. KARN and D.A. TOBER. Nutritive quality of little bluestem clones selected for phenotypic variability 289

A.S. LAIDLAW, P. CHRISTIE and J.A. WITHERS. Comparison between isotope dilution and acetylene reduction methods to estimate N_2 fixation rate of white clover in grass/clover swards 295

D.J. ROBERTS. A comparison of different energy levels in straw/concentrate mixtures used for partial storage feeding of dairy cows 303

J.R. HUSU, S.K. SIVELÄ and A.L. RAURAMAA. Prevalence of Listeria species as related to chemical quality of farm-ensiled grass 309

E.D. WILLIAMS and M.J. HAYES. Growth, colonization and productivity of two white clover cultivars strip-seeded into an upland Festuca–Agrostis sward 315

R.J. ORR, A.J. PARSONS, P.D. PENNING and T.T. TREACHER. Sward composition, animal performance and the potential production of grass/white clover swards continuously stocked with sheep 325

L.E. PHILLIP, L. UNDERHILL and H. GARINO. Effects of treating lucerne with an inoculum of lactic acid bacteria or formic acid upon chemical changes during fermentation, and upon the nutritive value of the silage for lambs 337

NUMBER 4, DECEMBER 1990

ALISON DAVIES and M. ELEANOR EVANS. Effects of spring defoliation and fertilizer nitrogen on the growth of white clover in ryegrass/clover swards 345

R.E. FALLOON and M.P. ROLSTON. Productivity of prairie grass (Bromus willdenowii Kunth) affected by sowing date and the head smut fungus (Ustilago bullata Berk.) 357

B.H. GREEN. Agricultural intensification and the loss of habitat, species and amenity in British grasslands: a review of historical change and assessment of future prospects 365

M.J. HILL and A.C. GLEESON. Competition between white clover (Trifolium repens L.) and subterranean clover (Trifolium subterraneum L.) in binary mixtures in the field 373

R.D. HARKESS, M.W. MORRISON and J. FRAME. Herbage productivity of brome grass (Bromus carinatus) 383

A.P. MALLARINO and W.F. WEDIN. Effect of species and proportion of legume on herbage yield and nitrogen concentration of legume–grass mixtures 393

D.E. HUME. Growth of prairie grass (Bromus willdenowii Kunth) and Westerwolds ryegrass (Lolium multiflorum Lam.) at Wageningen, The Netherlands 403

I.A. DAVIDSON and M.J. ROBSON. Short-term effects of nitrogen on the growth and nitrogen nutrition of small swards of white clover and perennial ryegrass in spring 413

SOPHIE PRACHE, G. BECHET and M. THERIEZ. Effects of concentrate supplementation and herbage allowance on the performance of grazing suckling lambs 423
